Ik zat in een taxi toen ik mijn moeder zag die in een vuilnisbak stond te graaien.' In Het glazen kasteel beschrijft Jeannette Walls haar jeugd als oudste van de vier kinderen in een gezin dat zonder vaste woonplaats en in absolute armoede leeft. Hoe ze als driejarige knakworstjes stond op te warmen en zich vreselijk verbrandde, hoe haar vader telkens weer ontslagen werd. Hoe er nooit een einde kwam aan hun financiële zorgen. De ingevingen van haar volstrekt onverantwoorde ouders waren altijd leuk en spannend. Haar liefde voor hen was groot ? ook al stelden ze haar keep on keep on. Here is a systematic reconstruction of the theory underlying a free society. By examining three fundamental constituents of contemporary life--social membership, temporality, and freedom--the author raises questions of the meaning of citizenship, principles of governance, and the ways in which the fruitful pursuit of livelihood and leisure may be best advanced. Each is seen to suggest moral imperatives for the guidance of a free society. Drawing on intellectual and political inheritance, Sherover establishes the foundations of a pluralistic republicanism that evaluates its advancement of human freedom in practical and concrete terms.

Exploration Rover mission, shares his account of life at the center of one of the great explorations of all time, Since 1977, Squyres had dreamed of exploring Mars, and after nearly two decades of planning and preparation, he got his chance. With hundreds of other scientists and engineers at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory and elsewhere, Squyres worked to build and launch two rovers named Spirit and Opportunity, and then guide them on Mars." "In the tradition of other ground-breaking stories of exploration and adventure, Squyres captures every glorious success and heartbreaking setback of the mission - from potentially catastrophic design defects to the tension between scientists and engineers. He recounts the exhilarating race to get the rovers to the launchpad in time, and introduces us to the remarkable individuals who got them there."--BOOK JACKET. As co-founder of the expedition that discovered Lucy, and leader of most of the first site-surveys in the Afar Depression in Ethiopia, Jon Kalb has years of experience with the region, its politics, and the scientists involved in the excavations. A participant himself in the "bone wars" that accompanied these discoveries, Kalb recounts the cutthroat competition and back stabbing that were often part of the media-highlighted race to find the oldest hominid fossil. He weaves this story in the rich fabric of Ethiopian society and politics, the plight of the regions peoples, and the international maneuverings for control of the fossil finds. Major Harry Maxim must retrieve the prototype model of Britain's latest military tank, which unluckily has fallen into the hands of a rebellious Jordanian unit that threatens to reveal its technology to the Soviets

"A famous explorer described Oman as 'The Last Corner of Arabia'--for Oman is perhaps the least known and most remote of all Arab countries. Yet for thousands of years the great powers of the world have fought to dominate and enslave her--the Persians, the Romans, the Portuguese, the French and the British--for Oman covers the whole of the south-eastern corner of the Arabian Peninsula, with a thousand miles of strategic coastline commanding the Indian Ocean and the entrance to the Persian Gulf. Today oil-tankers destined for the rest of the world pass through her territorial waters and even larger Russian and American fleets plough the ocean off her southern coast. Throughout history Oman has stood at the crossroad of world trade between Europe and the East, Africa and India. 'Arabia Felix' the Romans called her--'Happy Arabia', yet she has been continuously plundered by invaders and torn by tribal warfare. Bearing Capacity of Roads, Railways and Airfields is essential reading for academics and professionals involved or interested in transport infrastructure systems, in particular roads, railways and airfields. When he opened his workshop in the late 1970s, Ron Arad helped to redefine contemporary design. His recycling of ancient car seats to make the Rover chair, and his beds made out of scaffolding captured the creative mood of the moment, and caught the attention of a generation which had taken no previous interest in furniture design. The play is a racy comedy of intrigue, action and amorous adventures set in Naples at carnival time during the exile of Charles 11.
